CHEAT RIVER CAUSES LOCAL WATER TROUBLE

Monongahela Polluted With Coloring Matter From Contributary

IS HARD TO EXTRACT

Filtration Plants up Against it in Clarifying Water---Purifying it Easily Enough

The Cheat river, which is exactly what its name indicates has gone on the rampage again and is causing general trouble along the Monongahela, into which it feeds. Sunday the river water appeared sadly in need of cleaning and some of the best filtration plants along the valley were simply forced to give up the ghost after struggling for hours against termerdous odds. in clarifying the stuff. At Charleroi,the Tro-Cities Water company spent $79 Sunday in attaining a 95 per cent better grade than was extracted in the first place from the Monongahela, which affords some conception of how mean a fluid it was before the folks at the filtration got it. Morgantown was one place where the filtration plant had to suspend.

Never was the water in worse condition from the point of color than it was Sunday. Speaking in terms of bacteria, it was not so bad, and when water for the supply pipes of the water company left the filtration plant it was 99.7 per cent pure, tested and proven. The water was safe for drinking purposes, yet wells were called into service simply because of the color of the stuff.

The cause of the reddish-brown appearance was red and brown leaves. Recent rains and snows in the Cheat river basin washed these leaves from the swamps into the Cheat and they faded. Then the Monongahela received the coloring matter.

At the Charleroi filtration plant this morning, Chester Humphrey, the chemist, stated that never had there been such water in the Monongahela river. The Monongahela, though the devilish machinations of the Cheat is a notionate river at best these days and running a filtration plant is an art. The sum of $79 will be dropped every day clearing the water, if the present state is maintained, according to statements of the Tri-Cities Water company, and expenses this month will total about $2,135. The statement from the company is that the water is safe for all uses, even if the sparkle is missing.

ONE WARRING COUNTRY PLACES STEEL ORDER

Steel Trade in Pittsburg District Benefits From European Trade---Shrapnel to be Made From Steel Products

Orders for munitions of war in the form of steel bars to be turned into shrapnel, have begun to come to the Pittsburg mills. This morning the Southside plant of the Jones and Laughlin Steel company began to fill orders for the French government for 3 1-4 inch steel bars. The order is for no specific amount.

Agents representing governments engaged in the European war have been in and around Pittsburg for several weeks. It is understood that they have asked several of the steel concerns regarding the manufacture of munitions of war. It is expected that the steel business of the entire western part og Pennsylvania will be greatly improved by the European orders.

COMMON PLEAS COURT BEGINS AT COUNTY SEAT

Common pleas court opens today. The trial of cases began this afternoon at 1 o'clock. There are 84 cases at issue for this term and there will be four weeks of court, being listed up to December 19. The jurors summoned for the first two weeks reported for duty this morning. There will be no court on Thursday of this week, Thanksgiving day. Among the cases that are set for Wednesday are: Robert J. Poppendick against Hussy-Binns Shovel company, and John Correa against the Pittsburg Railways company.

Marie Amiello of Pittsburg has filed a suit against the Pittsburg Railways company to recover $10,000 damages alleged due by reason of fatal injuries received by her son, when run down in the tunnel of the Pittsburg Railways company, known as the Smithfield street tunnel, Pittsburg.

Joe Kokosky of Charleroi charged with aggravated assault and battery was found not guilty Saturday and the costs placed on the private prosecutor, Warren Kinder. The prosecution grew out of a trespass on the farm owned by the prosecutor's father I. V. Kinder, near Charleroi.

THE SHIP THAT WAS SENT ABROAD

No more beautiful sight was ever seen than the ship which left an American port the other day freighted with gifts for the unhappy people of Belgium. But in the eagerness of responding to a call for those abroad let us not forget those at home that have been victims of circumstances. At a meeting held by the Fraternal Order of Eagles it was unanimously decided that a committee be appointed to act in conjunction with Chief Albright in regard to those worthy of support to enable them to enjoy a Thanksgiving dinner. If any one knows a family in want they will be confering a favor by notifying Chief Albright or the committee of Eagles, and they will be amply taken care of.

CHARLEROI HIGH LOSES GOOD GAME TO WASHINGTON

Charleroi high school football players took a drubing at the hands of Washington high school Saturday afternoon, but by a low score of 13 to 0. Overweighed, Charleroi made Washington high go considerably, at that playing only straight football. The field was slippery from a covering of snow, but that did not spoil a really good game. Monongahela high school had a dozen or more representatives on hand to watch things, but they were compelled to go home without much information from the fact that there was nothing to be learned.

Washington kicked off to Charleroi to start the affair and it was many minutes before either team showed much gain. Charleroi high, by playing with a dash the first part of the struggle kept the pigskin in Washington territory.

It was well along in the struggle when Brown made Washington's first touchdown on a forward pass. Kier booted the goal. Toward the end of the struggle in the last quarter Wasnington pushed Irwin over the line on a plunge. Kier failed to kick this

BIG COAL DEAL CLOSED BY THOMPSON IN GREENE

Stop Sales of Livestock

Farmers of Washington County to be Prohibited From Shipping Cattle

Livestock sales in Washington county have been prohibited owing to the quarantine now existing throughout the state of Pennsylvania as the result of the outbreak of the mouth and foot disease.

In many cases this works a hardship on the farmers. They have prepared and advertised sales which cannot be held and in addition to that they will have to feed their stock until the quarantine is lifted and they can prepare for another sale.

The State Livestock Sanitary board has stated that in all probability the quarantine would be lifted in the counties where no outbreak has been reported within the next ten days.

Uniontown Financier Sells 41,000 Acres Near Waynesburg

MUCH MONEY INVOLVED

Transaction Largest in History of County---Capital Interested

By far the largest single coal land deal ever carried through in Western Pennsylvania was consummated during the past week when J. V. Thompson of Uniontown and his associates, operating in coal acreage in Greene county, sold all the remaining unsold lands, north of a line through Waynesburg, a syndicate of New York capitalists, headed by some of the strongest investment bankers in the country. The deal involves more than 11,000 acres, all underlaid with origininal Pittsburg seam coal. It is believed the price will approximate between $25,000,000 and $30,000,000.

The new owners, it is said, intend holding the property as a reserve coal supply of the Pittsburg seam for associated interests to whom a coal resource is absolutely necessary. Developments will be made only as these interests find it necessary.

The acreage in question is generally well located and continguous, block by block, the remainder of the northern half of the county being owned by the Frick interests, the Steel Corporation and large coal operating companies. South of Waynesburg the coal deposits are not so attractive as they are deeper and the character of the coal is not of the same standard.

Aside from the influence for improvement of this transfer on the existing coal prporeties of the district, much benefit is expected to come from the elimination of this coal deposit from market competition with existing mining companies.

The new syndicate ownership of the coal lands is not composed of any Pittsburg men. It is even stated that the personnel of the organization brings entirely new capital into the coal investment circles of Pennsylvania, but it is powerful and has matured plans for holding this vast supply for future needs.

Owing to the fact that Pittsburg seam coal has been so generally distributed among operating coal companies, the reserve supply in Greene county was regarded as one of the last, if not actually the last, free coal tracts of this character that could be relied upon by consumers, especially for the richer fuel suitable for gas manufacturer and for coke making. The Thompson interests were the pioneers in recognizing this fact and gathered up thousands of acres in the reserve fields of Greene county. Exhaustion of the older coal operations of Pittsburg began to force concerns to move into the new field. It was not long until the Jones & Laughlin Steel Company became a large purchaser of lands in that new field, being followed by the Frick Coke company the Lackawanna Steel company and the Youngstown Sheet and Tube company. H. S. Frick recently came

THAT INSANE ASYLUM.

It is pretty generally conceded that before long some action to provide for the care of the insane in Washington county will have to be taken. The Washington Observer editorially discusses the proposal to have various countries in the western end of the state combine in acquiring such an institution. The Observer says:

While the insane asylum situation is uppermost in the minds of the people of this county at the present time it is well enough to have as much discussion as possible and to analyze the situation as affecting this county and other counties in order that all possible light may be thrown on the subject and the proper sentiment created.

It is a matter of record that very few counties in the state have provided institutions for their insane. The reason for this lies largely in the fact that whenever counties have commenced to figure on the cost of them they find that their resources are not sufficient to meet the demands.

Lancaster, Chester, Blair, Somerset and Schuylkill counties are the only ones which have institutions of their own. Philadelphia county joins with the state in the maintenance and control of the Norristown asylum. Allegheny county has a home at Woodville. The cities of Pittsburg and Philadelphia each has an institution adequate for its own needs, but no more. York, Luzerne, Mercer, Elk, Bradford, Potter, Jefferson and Berks counties care for their insane in their county homes. In one incurables are kept at the almshouse while in another the county only commits to the almshouse until proper accommodations can be secured.

In Westmoreland county plans were drawn and ground secured but there is no immediate prospect of proceeding with the work for the reason that the estimates for the building were over $400,000 and the county did not feel that it was able to go ahead with the work. In Erie county, the building of an insane asylum was approved by two grand juries about four years ago but by common consent nothing further has been done. Erie county has about 233 patients at Warren. In Cambria county another of the larger ones, the project for a county institution was approved by the court and grand jury, but the matter has been allowed to drop.

It will thus be seen that the tendency all over the state has been to depend on the state [illegible] of the large outlay it takes for a county to erect an institution which is proper for the care of the insane.

The state has [illegible] most of the [illegible] part of the state [illegible] of charities has [illegible] ed an additional [illegible] eastern section.

The state has made [illegible] provision for the counties of Allegheny, Armstrong, Beaver, Butler, Cambria, Indiana, Greene, Jefferson, Lawrence, Washington, Westmoreland, Fayette and Somerset a—total of thirteen counties whose aggregate population is 2,241,870. Of these thirteen counties Allegheny and Somerset, as already stated have institutioons of their own. This leaves a population of 1,086,180 without any provision for the care of its insane, except such as is afforded at Dixmont. Dixmont is a semi-public institution and cannot be compelled to accept patients. It has a capacity of 600 patients, but did not refuse to take more until it had 986 patients. Armstrong, Lawrence, Indiana and Butler coun-

BACK TO THE WHIPPING POST

There is no place where the public whipping post could be used to distinct advantage in Washington county and that is to deal with a particularly mean class of criminals. The Washington News discusses the subject as follows:

Mononrahela thought it had unearthed the "meanest man" when thieves stole church contribution boxes from a store there. However, Washington has gone Mononrahela one better by producing two whelps who held up and robbed a blind man after beating him so terribly that it was necessary to render medical assistance.

A hound who would stoop to such a dastardly act is not deserving of the name of man. He is a degenerate sunk lower than the level of a dog, for even a dog is honorable in his limited way.

No effort should be spared by the authorities to run down the cowardly assailants and to bring them to justice. There are some crimes where the public whipping post of our forefathers should be restored as a means of punishment. Wife-beaters and degenerates who rob blind men need just such treatment. They are too far fallen to be taught sense and respectability but it might be possible to beat a little of it into them.

PICKED UP IN PASSING

As it was his birthday a man down river was allowed to take a friend home to dinner, but his wife gave him strict orders that he must not offer his guest sherry as they had none in the house. As usual, he forgot all about the injunction.

'Won't you have a glass of sherry, old man?" he said as the meal proand stammered that he never drank it.

"What rubbish!" said his host, "I know that is not true. Do try it!"

The guest looked quite disturbed. "No, no! I would much rather not!" he said, imploringly and turned redder than ever.

When the evening was finished and the guest had gone the woman of the house said to her husband:

'Why in earth did you press the sherry when I kept kicking you under the table to remind you that there wasn't any?"

Her husband looked at her.

"It wasn't me you kicked, my dear!" he said.

An old worthy who was in the habit of calling each evening at a place for a "drop o' the best," found the landlord one night polishing the taps. After a few remarks about the weather he receeived his nightly dram.

After he had gone the landlord discovered to his horror that he had supplied Donald with a half-gill out of the bottle of sulphuric acid which he had been using for cleansing the taps. Every moment he expected to hear of old Donald's death and his relief was great when the old worthy arrived the next evening.

"Donald, what did you think of that whiskey you got last night?"

"It was a fine dram, a warming dram, but it had wan fault. Every time I coughed it set fire to my whiskers."

CHILD BORN WITH HARD COLD

Remarkable Statement of Girl's Mother. How She Suffered Until Six Years Old. How Finally Cured.

Pittsfield, Mass.—"My little girl now six years old was born with a hard cold and very delicate. Every winter she would suffer from croup and poor digestion. Dr. Currier recommended Vinol and within a week she had improved considerably, and her appetite increased so she wanted things to eat that had disgusted her before.

"On the first bottle she gained one and one-half pounds, and now at the age of six Vinol has made her a solid, healthy, good-natured child, and while sick she was so cross and fretful I grew discouraged and was worn out taking care of her."—Mrs. GEORGE WAGNER, Pittsfield, Mass.

Vinol, our delicious cod liver and iron tonic, is a wonderful appetizer, and you can see delicate, ailing children improve day by day under its use. It enriches the blood, builds up the body, making pale, delicate children rugged and rosy.

We ask all parents of weak, sickly, delicate children in this vicinity to try Vinol, with the understanding that if it fails to benefit your little ones, we return your money.

STORE OPEN EVENINGS

BENTLEYVILLE

Times Hard.

The mines are working about a third of the time. If times continue to be distasteful much longer some of the foreigners will cross the Atlantic and share the rations of the battle field with their hardpressed brethren.

Tabernacle Meetings.

Sunday evening the tabernacle at Bentleyville sheltered the greatest number of people since its erection. There were some 700 present. People from all the outlying country districts were present. Singer Ray. H. Mehr had his choir in excellent condition and some exceptionally fine singing was done. The huming and whistling of religious songs was a feature of the services. Sunday afternoon Evangelist Henry J. Giles delivered a special sermon to women. It was greatly appreciated by that sex. In the evening he preached on the coming of Jesus. It was a good sermon, plainly portraying the absolute necessity of preparedness at all times, whether in good health or on the death bed. For two nights since the meetings began conversations have been urged. However there are no converts as yet. The collections are fairly good. Sunday more than a hundred men pledged themselves to donate a dollar toward paying for and the upkeep of the tabernacle. There will be no evangelistic services Monday night. On Wednesday evening there will be special services for the public and high school students. Others, however, are not excluded. Rev. Giles has announced his intentions of dropping the collections as soon as the treasurer reports sufficient funds to pay for the tabernacle and the fuel and light consumed during the series of meetings.
